Funds Not Available For Airport Expansion

"Frankly, at this point you've lost the whole thing," Robert Ainsworth, Economic Development Administration executive told county supervisors at a Monday meeting, referring to a proposed multi-million dollar airport expansion program.

Ainsworth was in Bay St. Louis Monday at the instigation of supervisor Jerry Lader to clarify some points of controversy concerning the expansion project which was to be jointly funded by EDA, the Federal Aviation Administration and the county.

Although he was "not about to get involved with local personnel problems", Ainsworth said there had been some glaring inconsistencies attributed to him by local spokesmen and he was anxious to explain his agency's position in regard to the status of the grant.

EDA is out of money, Ainsworth said, due to budget cuts for the coming fiscal year. After adding states to the southeastern region and accepting close to $35 million in grant requests, EDA received only a $25 million budget allocation from Congress for 1972-73. The Port and Harbor's plan for expansion of the airport runway to accommodate a cattle export facility was viewed favorably by top EDA officials, Ainsworth stated, but there is no point in submitting an application now as the agency has no money for such funding.

"We'll work with you any way we can," he said, "but we can't create money we don't have," Ainsworth added. "You all helped us get that way by spending about $3 million down here already - and I'm glad of it."

In answer to a question by Alton (Dolph) Keller, board president, Ainsworth admitted it may be two years before there are enough funds in EDA coffers to participate in the airport project.

Reviewing facts leading up to the present situation, Ainsworth said he was first approached on the matter of the airport expansion about 18 months ago by Charles Hill, then Port and Harbor director. At that time Hill told him prospects looked good for Federal Aviation Administration grant participation in the project. As EDA is generally the largest grantor in situations involving several federal agencies, EDA prefers that the applicant first secure commitments from all other agencies concerned, then "EDA comes in and supplies the balance needed to complete the project," Ainsworth said.

EPA involvement with sewerage construction which EDA can't get into.

Regarding an allegation that M.G. (Jack) Seuzeneau, former airport director, was responsible for the loss of the $260,000 grant through negligence in submitting the application, Ainsworth said emphatically, "Only one man has the authority to sign an application for EDA funding - neither Jack Seuzeneau nor Michael Smith. Only Dr. Levens (Port and Harbor Commission president) has that authority."

More specifically, he continued, no one here is responsible for the loss, the problem is entirely a matter of a lack of EDA funds.

Dr. Smith told Ainsworth that not only was he upset over the loss of the funding, but "so are the people (in the county) and the board upset that a misunderstanding by EDA officials had led us to expect money that is now not forthcoming." The Port and Harbor cannot now come up with $260,000 to insure FAA participation before a January deadline, he said.

The lack pretty well insures the demise of the airport expansion plans, Smith concluded.

Smith also pointed out that Seuzeneau's dismissal had substantially no connection with the grant application and that Seuzeneau was not paid a salary for the last year.

Keller wanted to know if Seuzeneau was allowed any responsibility for default in the EDA application matter or any dereliction of duties as airport manager.

Workman Killed In Trench Cave-In

A sudden cave-in at the site of the new sewer system construction in Waveland buried a workman alive in a 15-foot trench Tuesday afternoon.

Crew members dug separately for two hours with shovels and by hand, aided by heavy equipment, before recovering the body of James Gillum, 24-year-old Bay St. Louis resident.

Other crewmen who had been working in the trench on the beach at Nicholson Ave. with Gillum said that without warning a large section of the clay and sand embankment came crashing down on the men. All managed to leap out of the way except Gillum, who was struck and buried by almost a ton of dirt.

The tragic accident, which happened about 2 p.m. on a balmy sunny day, was an ominous beginning for the multi-million dollar sewer project. Construction had only been underway for a week at various sites throughout the town.

Gillum's aunt, brought to the scene of the accident, collapsed with grief and was taken to Mississippi General Hospital. Area fire departments, police and sheriff's personnel stood silently with crowds of onlookers ringing the deep pit as the rescuers worked unceasingly in the grim search for the trapped man.

Work has been shut-down on that site pending further investigation into the accident.

Funeral services will be held from Cook's Funeral Home, Picayune.

Bay City Council Considers Purchase Of Warning System

The City of Bay St. Louis will advertise for bids for a triple Civil Defense Warning System in order to alert citizens in the event of impending disaster.

Commissioner William Frisbie told the council at their regular meeting Monday that a private citizen had offered to pay part of the cost up to $5,000, the Civil Defense would pay approximately one-half of the cost and the city would pay the rest. The system would cost between $14,000 to $16,000.

Mayor Warren Carver objected to purchasing the system because "the media can give plenty warning in the event of a hurricane or storm". Carver went on to say that "this city is small, very unimportant. . . I don't think anyone will want to bomb Bay

St. Louis."

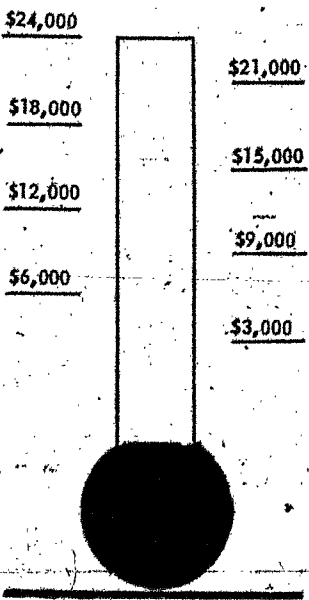

Commissioners Frisbie and Andre Arceneaux pointed out that the system will be used in the event of tornadoes, fires and hurricanes and will warn the people to turn on their television sets or radios to find out full information. "This will cost the city about $2500 and it is very necessary in the event of an emergency," commented Arceneaux.

In other action, the council approved a resolution permitting the school system to borrow $35,000 from Merchants Bank to finance repairs to Bay Junior High School. The work will include waterproofing and the installation of two fire escapes.

The council made no decision on the possibility of calling for another election on the proposed Neighborhood Development Program. Mayor Carver stipulated that he would like to have more time to think about the program and another election.

Commissioner William Frisbie suggested that the city consider holding a referendum covering a wide-range of issues such as the city's entry into Gulf Regional District, changing the form of government to city-manager or aldermanic, proposed increase in salaries for city officials and the issue of de-annexation. Frisbie pointed out, however, that an election for city-manager form of

Joint Use Of Bay Lagoon

Under Consideration

Preliminary plans are now underway to allow the City of Waveland to utilize the Bay St. Louis sewerage lagoon instead of building its own treatment plant.

The Waveland Mayor and Board of Aldermen passed a resolution at their regular meeting Tuesday night stating their intention to use the lagoon if possible and thus save the city approximately $1 million.

According to Bay St. Louis Commissioner of Utilities William Frisbie the lagoon was built to accommodate twelve thousand people and is only handling about five thousand at this time. "Part of our problem at the lagoon is that it is underloaded and the tie in with Waveland could help remedy the situation," Frisbie said. He explained that with the additional three thousand users from Waveland, the lagoon could be compartmentalized and bring about a better treatment system. "In the future, if it becomes feasible, we could build a joint sewerage treatment plant," Frisbie concluded.

Officials from both cities will meet Friday with representatives of the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Board.

Newspaper reporters have a distinct advantage over public officials.

We sit here in our office and throw needle-like criticisms at those who are open at all times to public scrutiny. These same public officials have little chance of rebuttal (especially when something is written about them in this column) and they usually resort to face-to-face combat.

This time, we are aiming the needle at ourselves in order to give both the readers and the officials a chance to laugh at us—or with us, we should say.

Armed with pad, pencil and camera, the newspaper reporter sometimes bumbles, trips and forces his way into meetings, disasters and garden club activities. Often with unhappy results.

Take the time one of us (in keeping with our policy of omitting names to protect the guilty, we will not say WHICH one of us) travelled to the Mississippi Test Facility to cover a visit by high-ranking government officials.

The camera was set and the reporter began snapping approximately 12 pictures of all involved. Looking forward to a fantastic front-page story, the reporter returned to the office, only to discover that she had neglected to put film in her camera.

For days, NASA officials could not understand why the story did not appear. The reporter went into hiding.

Or, how about the time two well-known Hancock County residents were identified in a photo as "two unidentified men". As it turned out, one was the local Game and Fish warden and the other was a constable.

O.K.

Then there are the times when the reporter comes to cover meetings and forgets pen and paper. And must scrounge around for the tools of his trade. Embarrassing.

It is important to study street maps, a fact we both learned too late.

Upon hearing the shrill sound of a fire truck, the reporter frantically called the station and learned that the fire is on Thomas St. Thomas St. "Til find it," the reporter says bravely to herself and aims the car in the direction of the siren.

Unfortunately, by this time, the truck has arrived at the fire and turns the siren off.

Like a moth without light, the reporter is found hours later wandering on Joe's Bayou Road. The competition gets the picture and reporter gets a local guide.

It has taken quite a while for us to learn to drop the "N" when pronouncing Kiln, to stop talking about certain people to other certain people because everyone here is related and that the pelican is not the state bird of Mississippi.

We learned one other thing. We like it here. We like the people and the good things that come with living in Hancock County.

But that won't stop us from poking fun at officials... and ourselves.

Laughing at yourself can be the best remedy for almost any problem.

Mea Culpa.

Trinity Institute Opens In Bay

Dedication ceremonies for the newly organized Trinity Christian Training Institute were held Sunday afternoon on the grounds of the main institute buildings on Citizen St.

A number of persons came from New Orleans as well as surrounding areas to attend the dedication services, held on the porch of the chapel and library building.

Rev. William Brown, director of the institute, in explaining the concept of the endeavor said, "There has been some misunderstanding of our purpose and what we are trying to create. We are not a splinter group of any particular religion; rather we edify and strengthen what each (religion) teaches and is trying to accomplish."

Brown said, "Wherever there are those who believe in Jesus Christ and in God, so are we and we are brothers."

He spoke of the parent group in New Orleans, Trinity Christian Community, and the natural involvement of the work done there, which has culminated in the establishment of TCTI in Bay St. Louis.

Brown introduced Dr. Roland Ebel, of the Tulane University faculty, who commended the organization for its aims and intrinsic value to humanity and the community. Charles Holman, Institute dean, and John Landon, chairman of the TCTI board, also addressed the gathering.

Holman outlined the curriculum of bible study now offered by the institute as well as future plans for expansion.

Rev. E.L. Stewart, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church in Waveland gave the dedicatory prayer. Michael Barbera, city missionary for TCC in New Orleans, gave the invocation.

Institute staff members conducted tours of the five buildings comprising the complex and a lawn supper was served in the tree shaded backyard of the main buildings.

Litter Laws Should Be Enforced

Not long ago I heard a city official admit that to his knowledge there has never been a fine given in the city of Bay St. Louis for throwing of litter or dumping.

Why is it that the regulations we have regarding litter are never enforced? Most laws are created for the purpose of protecting our rights. To live in a clean, uncluttered environment is certainly everyone's right. "Litter hurts everyone". It costs the U.S. taxpayer $17.50 annually to pick up litter. It costs the local merchant in terms of potential tourist business. It hurts the resident because it thwarts all his efforts to make his town a pleasant place in which to attract new home owners, new commerce, industry and tourism. It is disrespectful to the dignity of man who, by his nature, is a lover of beauty. It is time that we regard such offenses as anti-social behavior. Littering is as much a crime as vandalism and should be treated as any crime is treated—with punishment. In Singapore, in 1968,

Parliament passed an environmental health act that calls for a crackdown against litter. The act specified that property owners keep their buildings as well as the public streets around them swept and washed. Any person who leaves behind any bottle, glass, can, food container, paper or any other article will be guilty of an offense and subject to arrest without warrant. The same rule applied to those who litter from automobiles, the price of fine to increase with each repeated offense. The police were instructed to enforce the litter laws ruthlessly and even the throwing of a cigarette butt subject to prosecution.

Why shouldn't we have that kind of enforcement here? Bay St. Louis would be the cleanest city in all America! Even if our laws are not that rigid the ones we have should be enforced regularly, until a litter fine becomes as common place as a traffic ticket and cleanliness and community pride, once again, becomes as American as apple pie.

Bureau Lists Accomplishments

The Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics released statistics last Monday explaining accomplishments for their first year of operation.

Kenneth W. Fairly, bureau director, said in a news conference in Jackson that the Bureau, since becoming operational October 1, 1971, had confiscated or bought over $587,875.00 worth of illicit drugs.

He pointed out that the figure included 406 pounds of marijuana valued on the street at $320,087.00; 181,512 amphetamine tablets valued at $1,000 apiece, and 8,814 barbiturates with a value of $8,726.86.

The Bureau Chief stated that the agency also confiscated or bought 6,396 L.S.D. tablets at $15,174.00; 24.5 grams of cocaine valued at $5,540.00; 193 heroin capsules valued at $11,387.00; and 30 grams of opium that could be sold on the street for $800.00.

Fairly announced that the MBN had made 403 cases involving 570 defendants. He also enumerated 310 arrests including 279 males and 31 females.

In speaking of convictions the Bureau has received on cases initiated, the Director said that he was pleased to announce that 37 convictions had been received, which is 100 per cent on all cases that have reached final adjudication.

Fairly commented, "We feel we have come a long way since our creation by the Mississippi Legislature in 1971. Although we have only been operational for one year, we think our record speaks for itself."

He continued, "It is depressing to think that we have found the large amount of illicit drugs as we have, but this is a problem the entire State is going to have to face head-on before it will be stopped."

The MBN "operates as a resource agency for local government," Fairly said, "We are usually called into a community by the sheriff, chief of police, or other law enforcement officials from the area. We can then offer technical assistance as well as undercover manpower to the local enforcement unit."

"The State Legislature has supported us in our endeavor. We just want the people of Mississippi to realize that we are doing a job for them; they must help by contacting us with information concerning suspected drug dealings in their community and by learning what they can about our State's particular problem," Fairly added.

It was pointed out that agents with the Bureau are averaging approximately 257 hours per month, which is about 89 hours over their required number.

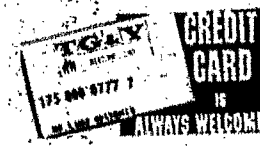

"I would like to tell the people of Mississippi today that we see a great decline in the drug traffic in our State. Unfortunately, this is not the case. In fact, it is just the opposite; we see a definite increase in the illicit street traffic of drugs," Fairly said. He concluded, "We do feel that we have attacked the problem before it has had time to reach the severe epidemic proportions as it has in many of our sister states, but it will take the complete cooperation of all our people to put an end to this menace in the years ahead."

Justice Courts Should Command Respect

A chief of police of a state police department appraised the importance of the Justice of the Peace court system.

"Ninety percent of the people in this country," he said, "have their only experience in a court of law in a Justice of the Peace court. When that court fails to provide an environment of justice and dignity and decorum and due process of law, we are failing them."

Justice, reasonable expense, and accessibility are objectives of Mississippi's Justice of the Peace court system. However, there is widespread belief that the system, as it exists today in Mississippi, is outmoded and in need of general improvement.

Today, there are more than 500 justice courts in Mississippi, with some counties having as many as 10 justices. This number should be reduced. In 1890, when justice courts were made a part of the State Constitution, it was necessary that there be conservators of the peace near the people throughout the county. Then, 20 miles was a good day's buggy ride and few people traveled beyond their home counties.

Now, with a highly mobile populace, it is not necessary to maintain the more than 500 justices operating in Mississippi. Present criticism of the justice courts includes the lack of training for justices, compensation according to the number of cases handled, competition among justices for business, and lack of decorum and dignity which fails to inspire respect for the court and the law.

Two years ago the Mississippi Judiciary Commission recommended several revisions in our justice court system. Suggestions included amending the Constitution to permit the Legislature to set qualifications for justices, reduction of the number of justice courts, educational requirements, training requirements, elimination of the fee system for payment of justices and provision of court facilities for justices by the counties.

The Mississippi Economic Council suggests that these revisions are long overdue. The 1973 Legislature should act to restore dignity, decorum, and respect to Mississippi's justice courts.

September, 1864, marked the beginning of the end of the Confederacy. Grant had Lee at bay at Petersburg, Sherman was burning and ravaging the country in Georgia, and Hood was on his way to the disastrous battle of Nashville. The only bright spot for the South, was in Mississippi, where Nathan Bedford Forrest was showing an amazing capacity to outwit and defeat veteran troops which had all the advantage of manpower and guns.

The last summer of the Confederacy began with a fine victory on June 10 at Brice's Cross Roads on Tishomingo creek near Baldwyn. Forrest's small army soundly defeated one three times its size and sent it scurrying back to Tennessee. This was the last signal victory in the war of Southern arms, though in the coming months there were a number of minor triumphs. But the Confederate army was slowly wearing itself out, and engagements like the one at Tupelo which followed a month later on July 14-15 cut heavily into its fighting power. This battle was fought at Hartsburg, a little suburb which had been completely destroyed by Tupelo when the railroad had been built a couple of years previously. The Federal forces reached the deserted village first and quickly tore down all the old buildings and made breastworks of them. Forrest's troops were sent to (against his better judgment, it was averted). The result was a stand-off; the Union troops retreated northward, and the Confederates spent the rest of the month in the rich country around Okolona.

August was spent in frequent skirmishes around Hurricane creek and Oxford, and in the big raid on Memphis, which resulted in the capture of considerable booty and the loss of more men.

Then September, and the last big operation of the war from Mississippi, a raid into middle Tennessee to cut the railroad carrying supplies to Sherman in Georgia. This was a well-planned and executed affair, but this time there were too few Confederates left to overcome the sprawling Union troops, and the men in gray and butternut came back to their homeland to do what little they could while awaiting the final surrender the following May. Many were the mourning homes and ravished towns and villages in their State, the ruined fortunes and health of the survivors, the shattered hopes and careers. But life went on; new businesses were built on the ruins of the old, new towns were founded, new homes were set up, and babies born in them, and the New South struggled up from the debris of the lost cause. September, one hundred and eight years ago, was a milestone in progress.

SMALL GRAINS FOLLOWING TREFLAN

Lots of questions are being asked about planting small grains in the fall following various rates of Treflan or Planavin. For single rates, the Treflan label forbids planting of oats and milo for 12 months following spring application and 14 months following fall application.

Where 2X rates of Treflan (double rates) have been applied the grower is restricted to planting only crops accepted for preplant treatment after the second year.

LIMING LAND

Lime does more than just raise the pH of the soil. It helps greatly in weed control by promoting rapid crop growth which provides earlier shading. Limed soils also have a greater activity for many of our herbicides and on well limed soils weed control can be obtained with lower rates of herbicides than on acid soils.

WHY TEST

Lots of dairymen ask, "Why should I put my herd on a dairy production testing program?"

This question is not hard to answer. First with today's modern milking methods, it is practically impossible to know how much milk a cow is producing unless you use a metering device in your system.

The production testing program also lets you know the butterfat content of each cow's milk. This is important because the market price of milk is still based on the butterfat percentage in the milk.

Calving dates, breeding dates, dry periods - all are important to you. The DHIA testing program puts these dates at your finger tips.

WINTERIZE YOUR LAWN

The time to control next spring's weed is right now. You can prevent their growth next spring by applying a preemergence herbicide now.

Cut back on your nitrogen fertilizer and step up the amounts of phosphate and potash. You may want to use a speciality fertilizer with herbicide mixed in.

For winter color in existing lawns overseed 10 pounds of ryegrass or five pounds of creeping red fescue per 1000 square feet of lawn area. Mow existing grass closely and fertilize lightly.

For new lawns, you might want to plant 10 pounds per 1000 square feet of wheat. This will give fairly good sod for winter and is easy to get rid of next spring when you will start your permanent lawn.

SOIL TESTING

The value of a soils test depends on what use you make of the information you get from the testing laboratory.

If you are just going to put the information in your files and not put the recommendations to work in your fields, then you might as well not test your soil. But if you use the recommendations to take the guess work out of your lime and fertilizer programs, then the soils test can be of great value.

Just remember, the recommendations you get from the testing laboratory will be no better than the sample you send in. So take good, representative samples.

BROADCASTING FERTILIZER

The modern way to fertilize your land is by broadcasting the fertilizer. If you do the job yourself you can broadcast the material faster than you can band it.

Custom broadcasting by many fertilizer dealers lets farmers have time for other jobs. It is a good idea to have someone in the field to "flag" the equipment driver so that he can get proper overlap of the fertilizer. With most equipment, a one-third overlap is best. Proper adjustment of equipment is most important.

HARVEST LOSSES

Soybeans left in fields through poor harvesting reduce your profits.

Make sure that your combines are properly adjusted and properly operated. Low and slow is the word. Set the cutter close to the ground and slow down the forward movement.

Make sure that the drivers of combines are trained for the job.

Dear Editor

We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for your comments in the editorial concerning the Mutual Aid Association.

It is a well known fact that many fire departments along the coast are in need of more manpower and better equipment. It is assuring to know then that when departments are in need of help, it takes but one phone call and help is on the way from neighbors.

Social Security Information

Working mothers, did you know you are building valuable protection for you and your family? According to Joseph D. Alfonso, representative of the Gulfport Social Security Office, the working mother has valuable benefits, other than her regular pay check, paid vacation, and other fringe benefits that come with her regular work. Not only is she building protection for herself at retirement, in case she becomes disabled, but a very important part of her Social Security is the protection she is building for her family.

Mr. Alfonso stated that children are now considered dependent on both their mothers and fathers, and the children of a working mother may become eligible for benefits at her retirement, if she becomes disabled, or in case of her death, if she has worked long enough under Social Security.

The working mother's dependent children would include her unmarried children under age 18, children 18 to 22 if unmarried and attending school full time; and disabled children 18 or over, who became disabled before 18 and continues to be disabled.

For more information about your Social Security protection as a working mother, call the Gulfport Office by dialing 396-1323.

Dear Editor:

I would like to tell the young voters, before they let someone else tell them how to vote, to learn what the American Party stands for. Don't let anyone tell you that your vote will be wasted. No matter who you vote for it will not be wasted. Even if my party is not elected, I do not want to be guilty of helping to put either of the others in, which is a vote to go under communism. Communism is not a political party, but is Lucifer's organization. "Truth crushed to earth shall rise again. Eternal years of God are his, but error wounded withers in pain and dies among his worshippers." If you are a Christian, remember communism persecutes Christians. Pray about your voting.

Dear Sir,

Anyone passing in front of the Sisters' resident at 115 Union Street will find it has a new look. In fact we're sure you'll look many times when you realize that our once hidden little convent is now in full view of all visitors and passers-by.

If you're very observant you'll notice a very familiar and dear friend standing near our house. Yes, St. Joseph who was purchased and enshrined by you and Sister Albertine has been moved into our front yard to stand guard over our home and our parish family.

Our dream is to beautify our yard with plants and shrubs. We'd also like to reinstate St. Joseph on his original pedestal if we can move it from the beach front.

We have also moved our old bell which for so many years called the sisters to prayers and meals and many of you to class. It too should have a place of honor in our midst.

Our hope is to make our front yard a spot of beauty for you and for us. We desire to share this plan with you and ask that if you'd like to help us in any way it would be deeply appreciated.

Sisters of St. Joseph

Dear Sir,

Mississippi leads the nation in traffic fatalities. Apparently residents of other sections of this state evidence the same disregard for traffic regulations as some of the citizens of Waveland. Unless traffic laws are enforced in all sections of the state Mississippi will continue in first place.

I was informed last month the sheriff's office on one week end issued over 20 tickets for traffic violations in Clermont Harbor. In the event Waveland police cannot or will not enforce traffic regulations then it might be advisable to request help from the sheriff.

If Waveland does not intend to enforce traffic regulations then all traffic signs should be removed. On Piney Ridge Road there are "Slow Children Playing" signs. I have observed cars speeding by these signs, driven by Mothers taking their children to school. These children are receiving a lesson on how to ignore traffic signs.

For quite some time on Sears Ave., the accepted speed limit is 60MPH. This same speed limit is now being used on Piney Ridge Road. During the past two months I have seen several near collisions at Sears Ave., and South Street. A car may stop on South Street before entering Sears Ave., and after seeing a car two blocks away proceed onto Sears Ave., however a car traveling at 60MPH requires only a few seconds to travel two blocks. Sooner or later, unless traffic laws are enforced, Waveland will have an accident with one or more fatalities.

Very truly yours,
E.N. Canady

Bay Man Dies In One-Car Crash

John Hill, 23-year-old Bay St. Louis native and Vietnam veteran, died early Sunday morning when the 1966 Ford he was driving ran off Lower Bay Road at a curve about two miles from Highway 90.

The car, traveling south, ran 405 feet on the shoulder of the road before hitting a soft spot, causing it to flip end over end and landing upside down in a field where it burst into flames. Rescuers at the scene battled to subdue the flames while others worked to extricate Hill, who was pinned under the back seat. Minutes after Constable Sam Periclaro, Clyde Koerner, Leo Woods and Waveland policeman Donald Dorn carried Hill's body away from the wreckage, two explosions rocked the car, shooting flames and sparks 30 feet into the cold night air.

Hill was taken by Eberhart Fabey ambulance to Hancock General Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

The Ford belonged to Eberhart who said at the scene of the accident that Hill was on his way to pick up Koerner in Lakeshore. Koerner and Hill are both Bay St. Louis residents.

Sheriff's deputy William Tate was investigating officer. The East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department unit answered the call and extinguished a brush fire ignited by the burning automobile.

Hill's death brought the number of traffic fatalities in Hancock County to a total of nine for this year.

JOHN HILL, trapped inside the burning car above, became the ninth traffic fatality in Hancock County Sunday before dawn in a tragic accident on Lower Bay Road. The 23-year-old Vietnam veteran apparently lost control of the 1966 Ford at a curve, running 405 feet on the shoulder before flipping end-over end into a field. Rescuers pulled the door and back seat off the car to extricate Hill's body minutes before the car was consumed by flames.

Board Hears Complaints About County School

A large contingent of ladies appeared before the county school board Tuesday to protest conditions of the rest room facilities at the Children's Center for Special Education in Clermont Harbor School.

Mrs. William Lamb, president of the Hancock Association for Retarded Children, read a letter to the board in which she outlined sewer system malfunctioning at the school, causing sewerage to back up into the wash basins.

The group, which included several members of the Junior Auxiliary and parents of students in the school, was not delivering an ultimatum, Mrs. Lamb stated, nor was it complaining of treatment by the board, space or any conditions other than that of the malfunctioning sewer system. The complaint had been brought to the attention of the school administration in the past, she said, and as nothing has been done to correct it the situation worsens and is now a health hazard to the children.

School Superintendent Kenneth McCarty heatedly denied any prior knowledge of the situation and angrily charged the group with making unreasonable demands on the school board. After further discussion, the board promised to have a maintenance supervisor look into the situation immediately.

Estimated construction costs for a five-classroom addition to Hancock North Central High School were explained by architect Fred Wagner, who told the board that consideration of rising labor and material costs determined his estimate of $136,800 as a bottom figure for the project. McCarty reminded Wagner that two years ago an eight-classroom addition had been constructed for $88,000 and he couldn't understand why five classrooms and two bathrooms cost so much more now.

"I'll get out there and build them myself for that kind of money," McCarty stated. Wagner pointed out that two years ago only classrooms were built, but this project involves washrooms with resultant plumbing and tile work as well as storage areas. Plumbing is considerably more costly than carpentry work, Wagner said.

A tie-in with the present sewerage system at the school had been discussed with county health officer Wayne Alliston, who told Wagner that was the only feasible solution for the additional facilities and would be acceptable with health department requirements, although Wagner admitted the present system has "been troublesome". A new system to include a treatment plant would be prohibitively expensive at this time, he added.

A motion was passed unanimously to authorize Wagner to draw up plans for a four-classroom addition to Gulf View School as well. Wagner assured the board that plans would be completed within two months for bid advertisement.

Mrs. Juanita Shiyon commended the board for the appointment of L.C. Ladner as principal at Gulfview School. Mrs. Shiyon said Ladner had been most cooperative in dealing with parents and the consensus was that he had upgraded the school since his appointment.

At a meeting Friday, motions were passed to: advertise for bids for an additional school bus to pick up children living in the Diamondhead development; to instruct all school principals to hold fire drills on a regular once-a-month basis; authorize Fred Wagner to advertise for bids on construction of additional classrooms at Gulfview School; authorize Wagner to

DYSTROPHY

SHIVERING in 49-degree temperatures, William Kolstad climbs from Bayou Lacroix at the Highway 603 bridge after aiding wrecker crews in the early hours Sunday. Kolstad disrobed and entered the bayou to attach wrecker cables to a Plymouth which had flipped off the highway and sank in 12 feet of water.

GOING TO SLEEP AT THE WHEEL can be a messy business as Eugene Scott, driver of this car, found early Sunday morning. Scott and a 16-year-old companion from Picayune were traveling south on Highway 603 about 1 a.m. when Scott said he fell asleep just before reaching the Bayou Lacroix bridge. He awoke as the car was plummeting through the air. After landing upside down in the middle of the bayou, the two youths swam ashore and were ultimately brought to Hancock General Hospital. The car is shown as it emerged from the murky bayou.

Two Escape Injury As Car Lands In Bayou

Two youths escaped with slight injuries from a one-car accident early Sunday morning when the car they were riding in ran off Highway 603 and into Bayou Lacroix.

Eugene Scott, 20, and Robert Quinn, 16, both of Picayune, narrowly escaped drowning about 1 a.m. when the 1966 Plymouth missed the bridge and plunged into the Bayou. Scott, who was driving the car which belonged to Quinn's father, James Quinn, said he went to sleep at the wheel and woke up when the car was in midair. Traveling south on the highway, Scott apparently ran off the left side of the road about 150 feet before reaching the Bayou Lacroix bridge. The car flipped over at the end of the embankment, landing upside down in 12 feet of water about 35 feet from the bank.

The two boys managed to extricate themselves from the submerged car and swim ashore. They were picked up on the highway by Edward Herndon, a private patrolman, who brought them to Sheriff's Deputy William Tate on Highway 90.

At Hancock General Hospital, they were treated for shock and exposure, and minor lacerations. Scott was charged with reckless driving and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Scott lives at 1406 Weems St. and Quinn gave his address as 610 Prince St. Assisting Tate were Waveland police officers Eugene Hughes and Donald Dorn.

Association To Reinspect Tree Farms

The Mississippi Forestry Association will start a new program October 1, involving reinspection of 3,000 of the state's tree farms which are five years old or more.

Bob Connor of Hazelhurst, MFA's Tree Farm Chairman, said that the ambitious project, to continue for 18 months, is part of a national program launched by the American Forest Institute. "We have contacted working industries and federal and state forestry agencies throughout the state," he said. "The initial response has been excellent with many offers of help in revisiting the older tree farms."

"The primary purpose of this program," Connor continued, "is to update records, answer landowners' questions, and maintain required high standards." A March 31, 1973 target date has been set for the first 830 tree farms to be visited.

Connor noted that Mississippi has more tree farms than any other state with 4,263 embracing 3,762,915 acres. Tree farmers are private landowners who manage their woodlands for maximum production and returns. Idle acres are planted with trees and the land is protected from wild fire, insects, disease, and overgrazing.

Three Working Toward Law Enforcement Careers

Although they are the youngest and newest members of the Bay St. Louis police force, Auxiliary Ptn. Michael W. Kenny, Edward A. Favre and John S. Scianna are working hard at catching up with the senior members in law enforcement.

The three 18-year-olds, all natives of the Bay, are full time college students working time per month, according to a report from Aux. Chief Harold Heine. A breakdown of scheduled hours shows that auxiliaries relieve the seven regular patrolmen an average of 17 days per month.

In concept the Bay auxiliary is more of a reserve force, Heine said, in that auxiliaries serve in a dual capacity with the city's regular police force.

They lighten the work load for regulars, he explained, while saving the city a considerable amount of money. Bay residents get round the clock protection from 30 men for the cost of seven, as auxiliaries receive no pay and furnish their own uniforms. Heine said there are several auxiliaries on patrol every night—either riding in their own cars or with regular patrolmen.

Training for these men includes patrol work with regulars, in station training sessions, and seven of the auxiliaries have attended courses at the police academy in Gulfport.

The three students work with regular police on patrol every weekend, gaining valuable field experience in law enforcement.

Scholarships

National Junior Auxiliary chapters, including the Bay-Waveland chapter, make annual contributions to a Scholarship for graduate study in fields related to training of children with special needs, as follows: Mental Health, Mental Retardation, Speech Therapy, Exceptional Child, Remedial Reading and other related fields, at the Committee's discretion.

Scholarships are not awarded for graduate work in general education.

Recipients may attend the college or university of their choice. If more than one calendar year is required to complete studies, a recipient may re-apply, provided all previous agreements have been fulfilled satisfactorily.

The Scholarship Committee considers the applicant's purpose in life, dedication, intellectual attainment and scholastic record. Reasons for choosing profession must coincide with the Junior Auxiliary's purpose of helping children. Official application forms are available from Junior Auxiliary chapters participating in the 1972-1973 Program or from Mrs. David Johnson, 457-7321, Bay St. Louis, Miss. Deadline is October 20, 1972.

Complaints Lodged Against Sewer Problems In Shoreline

A complaint of unsanitary sewer conditions in Shoreline Park has been brought to his attention by trailer residents in that area, County Tax Assessor and Collector George Heltzmann told county supervisors at a meeting Monday. Although sanitation is not his bailiwick, Heltzmann said, residents keep bringing the complaints to him as a county official when he is in the subdivision on tax matters. When he suggested the county health department be contacted he was told that it had, but to no avail.

A motion was passed by the board to have that area as well as others investigated. County School Superintendent Kenneth McCarty appeared before the board to answer questions concerning conditions at the Clermont Harbor school, which houses special education classes for retarded children.

Edward LeVasseur, school department bookkeeper, explained that plans were being discussed to build additional classrooms at the Lakeshore School. When that is accomplished, LeVasseur said, the educable children will be moved to the Lakeshore site leaving the trainable children in Clermont Harbor. He reminded the supervisors that a "$325,000 windfall, under terms of Title IV-A is supposed to come to the board" which might help defray the cost of additional school system construction and expansion.

In an unrelated matter, a motion was passed unanimously to accept a portion of Phase two development construction at Diamondhead.

GUEST SPEAKERS

Mrs. George Guntach, artist, and Ivan Anderson, photographer, both of Pass Christian, will be guest speakers at Bay-Waveland Garden Club's monthly meeting scheduled for 2 p.m. October 12 at the Garden Center. They will show horticulture slides and paintings and discuss Identification of Mushrooms on the Gulf Coast. All members are asked to attend.

The Interstate Highway System, when completed, will represent less than two percent of the nation's highway mileage, but will carry 20 percent of the nation's traffic.

Klepper, assistant director, Eastern Region; R.W. Carter, regional hydrologist, Southeastern Region; Sauer, and Gary W. North, chief, Experiments and Evaluation Office at MTF, all USGS.

A large number of USGS officials from all parts of the country were present for the event. During the day they also inspected and were briefed on facilities used by the Survey at MTF.

Primary attention was afforded the Hydrosience Center's new hydraulics laboratory and flood plain simulation facility.

Located in a building once used by the space agency in support of the Apollo-Saturn V rocket test program, the indoor hydraulics lab consists of a tow tank and submerged jet and a tilting flume used to obtain flow information. The Lab will be used to test and calibrate instruments.

The flood plain simulation facility consists of a grassed channel 300 feet wide and 4500 feet long, and is to be used primarily to study the effects of man's encroachment on the flood plain of streams. The facility is located in the test complex near the huge towers used to static fire and checkout boosters used in America's lunar landing program.

Experiments now underway at the Hydrosience Center include: the study of turbulence in open channel flow; large scale open channel flow experiments; operational models of stream systems; physical modeling of hydrologic systems; modeling principles; hydrology of estuaries; heat transfer processes; oxygen cycle in surface waters; instrumentation research and development; geothermal resources; deep well waste storage; and remote sensing applications to hydrology.

Jimmy Perniciaro of the Tigers put the first score on the board climaxing a 66-yard drive with a seven-yard touchdown run. The extra point from placement by Sam

Piazza was good, making the score 7-0.

With 39 seconds left in the first quarter the Tigers got their second score on a nine-yard sweep by Allen Mestayer. Sam Piazza again made the extra point, making the score 14-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The Tigers got on the scoreboard for the last time in the first half with 9:10 to go in the second quarter. Perniciaro got his second TD of the game going over from one yard out. Piazza put his third kick of the night through the uprights giving the Tigers a 21-0 half time lead.

The Hawks got their first score of the night with 5:06 left in the third quarter. Dallas Clark ran 55 yards on a sweep for the TD. The two point conversion attempt was no good.

The Tigers took a 27-6 lead with 4:19 to go in the third quarter when Randy Crankey went over from the six yard line. The extra point attempt failed.

Piazza blocked a Hawk punt in the end zone and Willie Thomas covered the ball for six points for the Tigers. Mike Magee kicked the extra point making the score 34-6 with 3:35 to go in the third period. With just two seconds to go in the quarter Mike Magee kicked a 25-yard field goal. At the end of the third quarter the tigers held a 37-6 lead over the Hawks.

The Hawks scored their final TD on a 90-yard pass play from quarterback Mitchell Havard to Don Lee with 7:02 left in the game. The two point conversion attempt failed. This Friday night the Tigers travel to Harrison Central for a Gulf Coast Conference game.

Walkiah Bluff Park Dedicated

BOATWAY BEGINS WITH WALKIAH...Tom Virden recalling the earlier promise of a pleasure boatway along the Pearl, cut the ribbons on Walkiah Bluff Water Park near Picayune last Friday.

A crowd of approximately 700 was on hand to witness the dedication ceremonies, marking the first park completed under the Pearl River Basin Development District's Pearl River Boatway program.

Virden, President of the District, told the group that the day would come soon when "a system of parks, from Nanih Waiya to NASA, and beyond," would be a reality. The District has recently issued $2.5 million in bonds in order to achieve this goal, with matching Federal funds expected to be available. Virden stated that, "although the District is heavily engaged in a number of development areas, none stirs the imagination more than the dream of a boatway from Nanih Waiya to the Gulf Coast." Walkiah Bluff Water Park is the first step towards the fulfillment of that dream. To further complete this bold plan, travel between this system of parks must be made easier. This could be done either through a commercial navigation project or a series of lowhead dams. Virden concluded by urging the group to continue its interest, because they, along with others, would determine the success of this exciting concept.

The Pearl River Basin Development District is moving rapidly toward its boatway goal with five other recreation projects finished or nearing completion. Vanilla Water Park near Monticello in Lawrence County, Columbia Water Park at Columbia, and Burnside Lake near Philadelphia, have all been completed, with Walker Bridge Water Park near Tylertown and Riverside Park in Jackson in their final stages. These parks will be dedicated within the next fiscal year.

The crowd then feasted on a southern style catfish cookout to the strains of the Pearl River Junior College Band.

Rocks Demolish Coast Episcopal

The offense of the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws proved to be too much for the Coast Episcopal Raiders Friday night as they defeated the Raiders 78-6.

The Rocks scored in every quarter, allowing the Raiders one TD in the second quarter.

The first score by the Rocks was a 16-yard run by Rick Kergosien after taking a handoff from quarterback Lance Oustalet with two minutes and 19 seconds gone in the first quarter. It took Stanislaus five plays to move from the Raiders' 38-yard-line. Maury Wingo's placement kick for the extra-point was good, making the score 7-0.

The Raiders were forced to punt to the Rocks, Godfrey returning the ball to the Raiders 27-yard-line. On the second play from scrimmage Oustalet connected on a 19-yard pass play to Philip Barbara for the Rocks second TD of the first quarter with 6:45 to go. Dewey Hoda ran for the two-point conversion making the score 15-0.

The Raiders took the ensuing kickoff but once again were unable to move the ball forcing another punt. Earl Godfrey took the punt on his own 35 and returned it to the 45-yard line. With 3:07 to go in the first quarter the Rocks put another score on the board with Kergosien making his second TD of the game taking a handoff from Oustalet and going 16 yards. Hoda ran for the two-point conversion making the score 23-0.

Following the kickoff the Raiders drove to the Rocks 32, when Raider quarterback Jamie Hans threw a pass intended for Kim Bergerud which was picked off by Johnny Knight of the rocks at the Rocks 15.

Four plays later with 18 seconds to go in the first quarter Kergosien took a handoff from Oustalet and went 67 yards for another Rock TD. This was Kergosien's third TD. Wingo kicked the extra point making the score 30-0 when the first quarter ended.

With 7:52 to go in the second quarter Wingo attempted a 20-yard field goal that went wide of the goal post. The Raiders took over on their own 20-yard-line.

It took the Raiders two minutes and six plays to put their first score on the board in the second quarter. Bergerud scored on a pass from Hans that covered 69 yards. The extra point attempt was no good. With 5:52 to go in the second quarter the score was 30-6.

The Raiders kicked off to the Rocks after the TD where Barbara took the ball on his own 45 and returned it 85 yards for another Rock TD with 5:37 to go. The extra point attempt by Wingo was good. The score was now 37-6.

Dennis Keel intercepted a Hans pass on the Stanislaus 13. After two incomplete passes Oustalet handed off to Kergosien who scampered 87 yards for his fourth TD with 1:49 to go in the second quarter. Godfrey took a pitch-out from Hoda for the two-point conversion making the score 45-6 at half time.

The Raiders were unable to move the ball after the opening kickoff in the third quarter to the Rocks' Bennie French who returned it to the Raiders' 30. Stanislaus quarterback Art Scalfie took four plays to put the Rocks on the scoreboard again going in from four yards out on a keeper with 8:02 left in the third quarter. Wingo made the extra point from placement making the score 52-6.

Ronnie Lott of the Raiders took the kickoff at his own 11-yard line and returned it to his 46. Unable to move the ball Bergerud went back to punt. After a high center Bergerud tried to run the ball for a first down but was dropped on his own 21 where the Rocks took over. One play by the Rocks moved the ball to the Raiders nine-yard-line. On the next play Scalfie fumbled and Coast Episcopal recovered the ball.

On the first play from scrimmage the Raiders' Hans threw a pass intended for Bergerud but Rocks Mike Duplantis intercepted at the Raider 19 and took the ball in for another Stanislaus TD. The extra point attempt by Wingo was no good. With 4:51 to go in the third quarter Stanislaus held a 58-6 lead over the Raiders.

With 38 seconds to go in the third quarter the Rocks got another TD when Hoda, on a keeper ran 48 yards for the score. The two point conversion by Hoda was good making the score 66-6 at the end of the third quarter.

The Rocks got two TD's in the fourth quarter. The first came with 6:43 to when Wingo took a handoff from Scalfie and the four yards for the score. The extra point attempt by Wingo was no good making the score 72-6.

The final score of the game came with 4:52 to go. Scalfie handed off to Pat Labat at the five-yard line who took it in for the TD. The extra point attempt by Wingo was no good. Score 78-6.

Rick Kergosien scored four touchdowns for the Rocks while grinding out 270 yards. This Friday night Stanislaus travels to Ocean Springs where they will encounter the Greyhounds in a Gulf Coast Conference game.

FOLLOW THESE HUNTING SAFETY RULES:

1. Treat every gun, loaded or unloaded, with due respect when handling, transporting or storing.
2. Always be sure that action and barrel are clear of obstructions, and that ammunition of the proper size is being used.
3. Always keep chamber empty or on safety until you are ready to shoot.
4. Be sure of your target before you fire; acquaint yourself with your intended game's features.
5. Don't climb a fence or tree or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; keep muzzle pointed away from yourself and others, and pointed up in the air.
6. Drink and live ammo don't mix; avoid alcoholic beverages before and during the hunt.
7. Pre-plan your hunting agenda and area movements so that you and your companions are not in each other's line of fire.

8. Never target practice without proper backstop; never shoot a flat surface or water's surface, as bullets can ricochet.
 9. Wear the prescribed safety hunting color for your area; make sure the color covers not less than 50% of your body.
 10. Respect all posted property; do not hunt private land without permission.
 11. Guns should always be unloaded when not in use.
 12. Keep guns and ammunition away from the reach of small children and careless adults.
- REMEMBER: Don't take long or difficult shots; you will only miss and spoil the game in your vicinity. Do take an extra second or two before squeezing the trigger. Successful hunters will aim or concentrate on one vital spot on the animal. (They will not fire blank at the whole target.)
- Follow the above rules and suggestions and your hunt will be a safe and successful one.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

A cold front moved into our section early Saturday morning bringing with it some low temperatures. The winds were out of the north east and were too strong for good fishing but diminished during the afternoon. Bass were caught at different places up Pearl River and the same applied to salt water fish. Catching large croakers predominated most every where. Some nice ones were caught at the croaker hole in Pearl River but the Bull Croakers have not appeared as yet.

Speckled trout are still getting more plentiful-some are being caught up Jourdan River and Pearl River out in the Bay. A little later they should be in Bayou Caddy where they will be caught in the canals off the Ansley Road. Bayou DeLisle and Wolf River furnish excellent trolling for speckles when they are there. Skiffs can be rented from the fishing camp at Bayou De Lisle and there is a good launching ramp on the De Lisle Road between the two bridges.

Talking about croakers Judge Hornes caught 35 bull croakers off the American Legion Pier last Tuesday. They averaged about 1 to 2 pounds. He said they were biting like nobody's business and it was fun getting them.

Jim Ingersoll says fishing is excellent by offshore rigs both night and day. Large mullets are running on the East Side of Mississippi River at Main Pass or South Chandeaur Island. Workers for the oil companies spear mullets and catch speckles at night with tackle as well as other game fish, when off duty. They use mostly Shad Rigs for the speckles. Spearing big mullets is a lot of fun, he said.

Mary and Mac McCall caught over 100 bull croakers at the croaker hole at Pearl River. Mac said he would like to learn fly fishing. We'll go sometime, Mac.

Was a pleasure meeting Tommy Salters of Long Beach. He fishes and hunts and is employed at A & P Store. Been helping out at the Bay St. Louis A & P Store lately. Goes fishing at every opportunity.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - Sam Mitchell according to the smile on his face is a happy go-lucky fisherman. Sam enjoys mingling with his friends and talking fishing. Eating fish is also one of his favorite pastimes.

Albert Hickman lives at Pass Christian on Sandy Hook Drive. Does mostly crabbing and fishing. Been getting some nice hard crabs lately, he claims.

Larry Ladner caught some large white shrimp the other day which he was showing to his friends. They were big ones, too.

According to H.P. Boudreaux who is one of our ardent shrimpers large shrimp must be coming in. He caught a couple Sunday morning. Thought he had a net full.

Played 18 holes of golf Sunday with my two sons, Russell and Luke at Pass Christian Golf course. Luke was down from Baton Rouge. He with Ray Garner and myself caught the limit of green-trout Saturday regardless of the strong wind. Luke brought his boat with him. It is a honey for fly fishing.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH A. NECAISE ARE SHOWN ACCEPTING DELIVERY OF THEIR NEW CHEVY PICKUP TRUCK FROM TURAN-LANE CHEVROLET SALESMAN PAT SCHRUFF. Mr. Necaise bought his 1971 pickup from Turan-Lane Chevrolet and when the new models came in he was ready for a new one. Since Mr. Necaise has liked the fine service he has received from Turan-Lane Chevrolet he returned to them again for a new truck. Salesman Pat Schruft gave Mr. Necaise a Turan-Lane deal that was again a money saver and he is very happy with his new pickup.

Christian Isles is in excellent shape under the guidance of Pro Lee Knight and the Grounds Committee. A dog fight is scheduled for every Saturday and Sunday. Met some new folks and old golfers like Mr. and Mrs. Dilean Stanton, Cary and Nora Spense, John David and wife, Sheldon Seuzeneau, Lucien Kidd, etc. All were having a good time hitting the little white ball on a perfect day for golf.

Did you know that catching frogs by hand is the best way and that there are still some around, waiting to be caught. If you want to eat some frog legs better go after them soon before they go into hibernation for the winter. Frogs won't move when a head-light is put on them. Shining frogs is like shining rabbits. They stay put until caught. Properly prepared frog legs resemble thighs of chickens, white, firm tender, and flavor-filled, and wonderful eating.

Another three-some, Uncle Bud, Tut Monti and grandson, Henry Monti, 3rd, caught some big croakers, Sunday. They were not bull croakers, however. Wind was pretty strong, they said.

Two of our best lady hard crabbers are Bertha Jeffreys and Loucille Bourgeois. They go quite often and bring home the hard shelled crustaceans.

Hunting areas is Wolf River - 240,000 acres in Pearl River, Lamar and Marion counties. Nearest town - Poplarville. Open seasons on deer, turkey, squirrel, dove, quail, waterfowl, rabbit and furbearers. Area manager Curtis Holston, Rt. 1, Poplarville. 39470.

While cleaning fish the following live baits were found in them. Golden Shiners, Small Mullet, bull minnows (killifish), Fiddlers and small Hard Crabs. Bass like fiddlers and crabs best. Long rubber worms (black or purple) are effective baits for bass (green trout) this time of the year when used on the bottom-work with jerky motion and give fish time to swallow them. Set hook firmly.

Black Pine Snakes are harmless. They are defensive if approached. They hiss loudly and strike with mouth open.

Usually they do not bite; their teeth may leave scratches. Black Pine Snakes are found on the Gulf Coast but mostly in upland sections.

Speckle Trout, named "Weak Fish" are not a weak fish at all. They fight hard when hooked, but have tender mouths and the hook will take out if not hooked in a hard part of the mouth. Artificial baits with 2 or 3 sets of hooks are most effective for catching them. Baits with sets of hooks make it easy to land them. Flounders - go for artificial baits also. The smoky shrimp is a good bait to use for them.

Fiddlers are good baits when fishing for sheepshead, and under the Hi-way and railroad bridges are the best places for finding them. Oysters and small crabs are also excellent baits. Sheepshead love both of them, believe it or not.

The Teal - Duck - and - hunting season closed Saturday of last week. Quite a few teal ducks were killed in lakes and ponds hereabout. Plenty shooting was heard through Saturday.

The second segment of the dove season should bring in better shooting. It will be colder and doves should migrate our way.

Now is the time to fish ponds up in the county. There are some good ponds in that section and under water baits are best this time of the year.

Asa LaFontaine celebrated his 78th birthday on Tuesday Oct. 2nd reminiscing with friends. Asa is retired from the L & N Railroad and is taking life easy with his children.

... ABOUT RIDDLES!

"In at every window and every door crack, round and round the house and never a back - what is it?"

Who says riddles are just kids' stuff? Puzzlers like this one have been with man ever since we began to talk, according to Compton's Encyclopedia.

"The Wind" - that's the answer to this riddle, and the wind is a favorite for riddle-makers. In Germany, you might hear "What can go in the face of the sun and leave no track?" The answer, again, is the wind.

Like fables and folktales, riddles are common to all nations and to all times. When ever where ever people gather to pass the time, riddles can be a pleasant amusement.

Sometimes, the right answer to a riddle pays off in big rewards, but the wrong answer means there's a heavy price to pay, notes Compton's Encyclopedia.

The daughter of Thor, Norse god of thunder, was the prize in a riddle contest recorded in an ancient myth. Homer, the Greek poet, though, is said to have died of chagrin when he could not answer a riddle.

Outside Thebes in ancient Greece, the strange monster Sphinx crouched on a hill above the city. "What is that which has four feet in the morning, two at noon and three at night?" asked the Sphinx of every passerby. Those who failed the test were killed. Many perished until Oedipus came and answered, "Man. As a baby, we creep on hands and knees. In mid-life,

Cats Are Wonderful Pets

There are 22 million family owned cats in the United States, according to the Pet Food Institute, and most likely all their owners would agree with Mark Twain, who wrote:

"A home without a cat - a well-fed, well-petted and properly revered cat - may be a perfect home, perhaps, but how can it prove its title?"

As pets, cats are delightful creatures. They are quietly affectionate, well-mannered, independent; they possess beauty, grace and noble dignity. Though easily trained and cared for, cats are discriminating eaters. They prefer day-to-day variety, and at room temperature, please.

Feeding Their Majesties
Fortunately, catering to their gourmet tastes is both easy and economical today. There is a wide selection of good commercial cat foods on the market. Scientifically formulated, these are superior to a table-scraps diet of uncertain nutritional value.

Some commercial foods combine the desired high protein content with all the essential vitamins and minerals your cat is known to need for daily maintenance.

Some others, however, do not; these foods are best used for occasional feeding or for mixing with the maintenance type food.

But you don't have to guess which is which. Just take a moment to check the labels when you're shopping. A complete list of ingredients and Normally healthy and self-sufficient, cats will stay well under conditions unsatisfactory for dogs. However, certain vaccinations are necessary along with the veterinarian's periodic checkup.

Did You Know?

That a cat catches a mouse hiding in the darkness because the mouse emits infra-red rays, guiding the cat's thermal sensitivity as the warmth of the sun's rays guides a blind man.

That a cat walks or runs by moving the front and back legs on one side, then those on the other. The only other animals that move like this are the camel and giraffe.

Campaign Medals Available At Bank

The official 1972 Presidential Campaign Medals of both the Republican and Democratic Party National Committees are now on sale at Hancock Bank in Gulfport.

Samples of both are being displayed in the lobby of the Gulfport bank. Postage-paid order forms are available at the display, to be mailed directly to The Franklin Mint.

According to Leo W. Seal Jr., president of Hancock Bank, the medals are being offered through the bank's Silver Center, a new service which was recently begun for the bank's customers.

Mr. Seal said that in addition to the 1972 Presidential Campaign medals, the bank's Silver Center features rare commemorative medals, fine art medals and unusual coinage. The world's largest and heaviest silver coin, 20 "balloons" from the Republic of Panama, is a favorite among lobby visitors. These collector's items are created by The Franklin Mint of Franklin Center, Pennsylvania, the world's largest private mint.

The two Presidential Campaign medals, one depicting President Richard Nixon and the other Sen. George McGovern, were sculptured by Gilroy Roberts who is known internationally as the dean of American medallic sculptors. Roberts has rendered the candidate's portrait in the same classic silhouette style he used in his famous John F. Kennedy sculpture, which appears on the U.S. half-dollar. The medals are struck in solid sterling silver.

"The offer is open only during the 1972 campaign," Mr. Seal said. "The mint will return all orders postmarked after election day, November 7."

The medals are one and a half inches in diameter, and are mounted in a desk display stand. The price is $15 each.

The Franklin Mint is the official minister of commemorative medals for such organizations as the United States Olympic Committee, the White House Historical Association, Postmasters of America, the Royal Shakespeare Theatre, and the United Nations. It is the only non-government mint in the United States that produces legal tender coin for foreign countries.

Oyster Symposium Scheduled Friday

Gov. William L. Waller of Mississippi is scheduled to welcome the participants of a one-day public symposium on the oyster fisheries of the Gulf of Mexico, to be held Friday, October 6, at the Buena Vista Hotel, Biloxi.

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory of Ocean Springs, state marine research agency, and the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission, state regulatory and enforcement agency, are sponsoring the meeting. The session will last from 8:45 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Oyster experts from five Gulf states have been invited to present a frank appraisal of the fishery in their respective states, including citing those factors that may have had a good or bad effect on the oyster fishery," states Dr. Harold Howse, director of the Ocean Springs Laboratory. "Important information will be exchanged during this symposium that should prove valuable to personnel responsible for managing and using this popular natural resource."

"Oysters, like other marine resources, are in the Public Domain in Mississippi. Decisions and actions by members of local and state governments have a direct bearing on protecting and conserving, as well as on managing, regulating and providing for the optimum use and development of oysters. We feel that people like these and interested public in general need to share in this knowledge," Doctor Howse added.

Presentations on the oyster fishery in Texas, Louisiana, Alabama and Florida will take up most of the morning session, with the afternoon program being devoted to the fishery in Mississippi.

Out-of-state speakers on the program are:

Robert P. Hofstetter, biologist, Coastal Fisheries Section, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Harry E. Schafer Jr., chief, oysters, Water Bottoms and Seafood Division, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Eddie May, assistant chief marine biologist, Alabama Marine Resources Division, Department of Conservation and Natural Resources.

Edwin A. Joyce Jr., chief, Bureau of Marine Science and Technology, Division of Marine Resources, Department of Natural Resources of the State of Florida.

William J. Demoran, marine biologist at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory and consultant biologist to and a member of the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission, will present data on the Mississippi oyster fishery. Joe Brown, sanitation engineer with the Mississippi State Health Department, is scheduled to follow Demoran and will discuss public health aspects of the oyster fishery.

Dr. Gordon L. Gunter, director emeritus of GCRL, will summarize the information presented during the morning and afternoon, after which the guest speakers will conduct a panel discussion.

help put him out of business

en years ago drug abuse was a skid row incident that didn't make the newspapers. Today it is an overwhelming national problem that threatens a generation.

It is a tragedy of such proportions, war included, that DRUG TRAFFICKING among youth and adult is plainly labeled: "Public Enemy Number 1."

The appalling fact is that HALF of all crimes in the United States are drug related. Getting hooked on HEROIN means additional crime to finance the habit, lifetime addiction or an excruciating end.

The master villain in the great tragedy is the PUSHER. Put him out of business, and the upward trend of addiction will decline.

There are now 33 Target cities in war on Pushers. Some have organized "TIP" - Turn In A Pusher - campaigns to stop the flow of this deadly traffic.

You can do your part by passing on to the authorities information that adds effective weaponry in the drug war.
